1.2.2. FLOWCHART TASK

CSS BOX MODEL

The CSS box model is a collection of guidelines that dictate how your website appears online. Under this model, each HTML element is organized into a rectangular box based on its size, type, positioning, relationship to other elements, and other external variables like viewport size. The elements in this box are content, padding, a border, and margin.